GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, September 10.—The Prince of Wales has directed Captain Hattan Saunders to communicate to the Harvard University Boat Crew his regret at being prevented from paying his personal respects to them individually and collectively during their stay in England. Captain Saunders is charged to convey also to the Harvards an expression of the admiration of the Prince for the gallant manner in which they rowed against the Oxford men.

A letter in the Telegraph says: "Lord Byron did not meet Mrs. Leigh from a period before his marriage until after the separation from Lady Byron."

The Times contrasts the French revolution of 1848 with the present revolution in Spain. In the former the people ruled, when the power given to Gen. Cavaignac was turned against the people's sovereignty after a short but terrific struggle. In Spain the army governs, yet the army, although ruling, has neither conquered nor fought for its power. A struggle with the people is always imminent, but the contending forces are unequal and the odds are against the people. Among Spanish statesmen there is no Cavaignac to try stratagem, corruption and surprise, but dare not employ force. The revolution has hardly moved a step and the whole affair lies in a nut shell. As from the beginning, the question is still whether the army or the people are to have the upper hand.

The Times in an article on the Turko-Egyptian affair, trusts the controversy will have the effect to improve the relations of Sultan and Viceroy.

LONDON, September 11.—The Land and Water newspaper hopes the Oxford crew will make a return match with the Harvards, and that the race will be as well fought as the last; a better contest cannot be expected.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Lady Palmerston, widow of the late Lord Palmerston, died yesterday.

FRANCE.

PARIS, September 11.—Official newspapers to day announce Napoleon well.

Rumors of the possible abdication foreshadow a not improbable event as the Emperor is not likely to return, his sickness incapacitating him from business. Many think his son's majority will be proclaimed on his next birthday.

PARIS, September 12.—A fearful hurricane has swept over the north of France, causing much damage to the crops and other property.

The Emperor did not go out to-day on account of the severity of the weather.

The Journal (official) publishes the text of the Senatus Consultum, which is promulgated in the name of the Emperor and signed by Rouher, and countersigned by Duvergier. The following is a synopsis of the document:

Article 1. The Emperor and Corps Legislatiff have the privilege of initiating laws.

Article 2. The Ministers are dependent on the Emperor. They deliberate under his Presidency, are responsible, but can only be impeached by the Senate.

Article 3. The Ministers may be members of either Chamber; they have free access to and the right to speak in both.

Article 4. The sittings of the Senate are open to the public, but on demand of five members the Senate may go into secret session.

Article 5. The Senate, after pointing out modifications in a bill, may send it back for further consideration to the Corps Legislatif, and if in any case they oppose the promulgation of a bill, in such case the bill cannot be presented in the Corps Legislatif again during the same session.

Article 6. The Corps Legislatif elects its own officers. At the opening of each session the Senate and Corps Legislatif make their own internal regulations.

Article 7. Every individual member of the Senate and Corps Legislatif has the right of interpellation. Votes of confidence or want of confidence, orders de jour motions, can be adopted, but they must be referred to the bureaux as a matter of right whenever the government demands it, and the bureaux will then appoint a commissioner to consider the matter, on whose report the Corps will decide whether to accept or reject.

Article 8. No amendment of a bill can be discussed unless it has been previously sent to the Committee which considered the bill and also communicated it to the government. If the government and Committee disagree on the amendment, the Council of State shall pronounce its opinion, but the final decision rests with the Corps Legislatif.

Article 9. The budgets are presented and voted on by chapters and articles.

Article 10. All modifications in customs or postal tariffs, made through treaties with foreign nations, will require a law to make them binding.

Article 11. The relations of the Emperor, Senate and Corps Legislatif are changed only in so far as they are modified by this Senatus Consultune. Their formal intercourse will be settled hereafter by Imperial decree.

Article 12. Certain articles of the Constitution inconsistent with the above provisions are abrogated.

SPAIN.

PARIS, September 11.—The rumor that the Regency, under Serrano, will be extended, is gaining ground. All parties in Spain favor the proposition.

MADRID, September 11.—The disorders have been quelled, and the city and country is tranquil. The Government has advised General Prim that his speedy return is unnecessary. The Imparcial newspaper to day publishes a letter from Mr. Fish, American Secretary of State, to Minister Hale, and comments favorably upon it.

MADRID, September 12.—The Imparcial newspaper confirms the report that twenty-four thousand soldiers will be sent to Cuba, and states that the merchants of Havana have raised 9,000,000 reals for their pay.

King Victor Emanuel, of Italy, in reply to overtures made to Duke of Aosta in connection with the Spanish throne, declares that his son shall never reign in a free country unless by a unanimous call of its constituent chambers.

CUBA.

State of Affairs on the Island—Enthusiasm Over the Recent Reported Successes—Outrages Perpetrated by Volunteers.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 11.—A Southern gentleman who is visiting Cuba, for the purpose of ascertaining the state of affairs for himself and his friends, writes from Cardenas, under date of September 1st, as follows:

"The news of the recent success of the Cubans near Puerto Principe, Sagua La Grande and Los Tunas has given impetus and new life to the patriot cause, which will prove irresistable. The enthusiasm of the Cubans knows no bounds. They are rising en masse, and flocking to the liberating army by hundreds. The Spanish openly assert that the revolution will be successful, that the Spanish force is almost destroyed; that Spain can't send sufficient reinforcements to regain positions lost by these battles. It is reported that the Cubans in these engagements fought with great determination and daring, and showed discipline equal to that of regular troops. The Spanish troops everywhere are demoralized. They have no confidence in their soldiers. Many of the regulars are known to sympathize with the Cubans. The revolution, I honestly believe, will succeed and the independence of Cuba be attained.

"The outrages perpetrated upon unoffending and helpless people by the volunteers and their friends, are of a most revolting character, and exceed even those perpetrated by the Indians on the frontier of the United States. Every where evidence of these outrages can be seen in buildings burned, churches destroyed and hundreds of homeless, starving wanderers. This once beautiful and luxuriant island is now a barren waste, and should war be prolonged six months, it will be almost uninhabitable. Even now, all along the eastern coast of the island, the people are on the very verge of starvation, and are dying by hundreds, from disease superinduced by want."

CINCINNATI.

The Humboldt Celebration at Cincinnati—The Bible in the Public Schools.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, Sept 12.—Full arrangements for the celebration of the Humboldt Centennial are made. A salute of one hundred guns in the morning, a procession through the streets, speeches at the Rink, and banquet at Schuetzen Platz, and various separate celebrations at night will constitute the ceremonies.

Twenty Protestant ministers to-day devoted all or part of their sermons to the exclusion of the Bible from the Public Schools. Petitions to the School Board protesting against it were made in every church.

Funeral of Senator Fessenden.

PORTLAND, ME, September 11.—The funeral services of Senator Fessenden took place at the First Parish (Unitarian) Church to day, Rev. Mr. Bailey, pastor, officiating, assisted by Dr. Caruthers. The edifice was thronged, the crowd filling the vestibule and reaching into the street. The funeral cortege was very long. The body was buried at the Western Cemetery, in the family lot. The city bells were tolling while the procession moved. The city buildings are draped in mourning, all flags are at half mast, and the public offices closed.

—The Lewisburg, Centre and Spruce Creek Railroad Company, organized for the purpose of constructing a railroad through the rich valleys lying between the west branch of the Susquehanna and the Allegheny mountains, having forfeited their charter, the Legislature, in 1865, revived it, with a supplement extending the road at either end. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company now has charge of the enterprise, has already built a fine bridge at Lewisburg, and will push the new railroad through Union, Centre and Huntingdon counties to an early completion.

—P. D. Fiske, widely known throughout the country from his connection with express business, died at Boston on Sunday morning.

They have also obtained possession of the stone from which the counterfeit five dollar bills on the Jewett National Bank, of Jewett, Conn., that were so extensively circulated a few months ago, were printed. The principals of this extensive gang of counterfeiters are now in custody, but their names are withheld, as their publication would probably prevent the arrest of accomplices.

—"Tom Brown," (Thos. Hughes,) the referee in the Harvard Oxford boat race on the Thames, publishes a letter giving his views of the contest. The weak spot of the Harvards, he says, was the individuality of their rowing,—more than a Cambridge or Oxford "coach" would allow—each man having small peculiarities of style of his own, interfering more or less with the perfect machine-like uniformity absolutely necessary to get "greatest speed out of wood on water." A more material point he believes to be the catch at the beginning of the stroke, and the comparatively shallow sweep of the oars through the water, with which the Oxford pulls, every inch of the oar which dips above the bar being lost power. Speaking of the race, he says he never witnessed anything approaching the scene, although familiar with the Thames for a quarter of a century, and having witnessed most of the races during that time, adding, "we shall never see the like again, and the one small grudge we shall owe you will be that you will have taken the zest even out of our University matches in the future."

BUTLER, PA.

Hockenberry-McCandless Homicide Case—Closing Scenes.

Judges McGuffin, Cummings and Garvey, presiding.

Adjourned Court for said county being in session, and the Oyer and Terminer list being called over, the Sheriff was ordered to bring into Court the body of Zachary Taylor Hockenberry, who was tried at the March term for the murder of Miss Nancy Ann McCandless and convicted, and whose counsel had moved the Court for a new trial and made their argument at the June term.

The Court stated briefly that the prisoner had received a fair and impartial trial at the hands of his countrymen; that he had been ably defended; that the rulings of the Court upon all doubtful questions had been in his favor, and that the Court had considered well and fully all the circumstances surrounding the case, and that they could not find anything upon which they could found or would be justified in granting a new trial, and hence it was out of their power to do so.

The prisoner was then asked by the Clerk of the Court if he had anything to say why the sentence of the law should not be passed upon him. The prisoner conversed with his counsel a few moments, and through them announced to the Court that he had nothing to say. He was then ordered to stand up, when the Judge addressed him as follows:

Z. Taylor Hockenberry, you have been tried and convicted of murder in the first degree, which was judicially ascertained by a verdict of your fellow citizens of the highest respectability. Your triers were men carefully selected by you, with the assistance of faithful and intelligent counsel. All the forms of law were carefully observed in selecting that jury. You were during the trial allowed every right and all doubtful questions which arose in the investigation and presented to the Court were ruled in your behalf. It is true no human eye saw you commit the terrible deed. Yet a web work of circumstances so surrounded your conduct as to lead the jury to the conclusion that you took the life of Nancy Ann McCandless, in the darkness of the night, by means of a deadly weapon, while sitting at her father's table, where you had frequently been permitted to partake of the hospitality of your uncle in her society. You forgot that the eye of God was fixed upon you. He who suffers not a sparrow to fall without His notice, observed your act.

You committed the foul deed of taking away the life of one you loved, because she could not reciprocate your feelings, and to have permitted jealousy to have taken possession of your judgment and precipitate you into the commission of an awful homicide—and to be avenged of her because she would not consent to become your wife—your act was not that of sudden impulse, but a deep seated deliberation, and well formed design to take her life. However much you desired and endeavored to obtain her consent to become your partner for life, her refusal to respond left you without cause for the perpetration of the fatal deed.

I recur not thus briefly to the facts of this case to wound your feelings, or add one pang to your grief, for the afflicting hand of an offended God is pressing heavily upon you. Before the lifeless corpse of your victim was conveyed to the narrow tomb prepared for the living, the officers of the law were on your track and you were overtaken and have been condemned, and the sword of justice trembles over you, and is about to fall on your guilty head.

You are about to try the realities of a never ending eternity, and I beseech you not to rest upon the hope of a pardon through Executive clemency, which may never be realized. Let me entreat you, by every consideration, to reflect and remember your situation. We are all taught by holy writ that there is one who can truly pardon and wash away our guilt, however great it may be. I adjure you to fly to him in this, your hour of peril.

It only remains for me to pass the judgment of the law, (here the judges, members of the bar and spectators all rose to their feet.) which is that you, Zachary Taylor Hockenberry, the prisoner at the bar, be taken from hence to the jail of the county of Butler, from whence you came, and from thence to the place of execution, and that you there be hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may God have mercy on your soul.

During the remarks of the Judge, and the passing of the sentence upon the prisoner, there was no perceptible change in the prisoner's countenance, nor could a muscle be seen to move. After the sentence was passed the prisoner sat down and conversed a few moments with his counsel, Messrs. Thompson and McCandless, and was then conducted back to the jail by the Sheriff, doubtless to remain there till he shall be led out to his doom and to vindicate the majesty of an offended law.

Chicago to New York, via. Pittsburgh.

A correspondent who made the trip says:

Leaving Chicago at 4 P. M. in one of the magnificent palace-coaches of this line, the traveller wakes up in Pittsburgh at 7:10 the following morning, after a night's rest almost as refreshing and satisfactory as if had at home in his own bed. Breakfast at the Union Depot Hotel, one of the best in the country. No one will be likely to forget this, even if he should not be reminded by the conductor, for the name of the proprietor will suggest the condition and needs of the inner man and prompt him to satisfy them; his name being Unger, very naturally suggests hunger. This is supposed to be a sharp practice of the management of this line—a means of enticing to the dining room the unwary and unsuspecting in a very innocent manner. "All aboard" is heard, and we are on our way over the grand old Alleghenies—now through a tunnel, now winding about a steep cliff, beneath you a yawning gulch, now gliding along over a plain; on either side a continuous panorama of sublime, grand and beautiful scenery—a combination not often to be found. On, past the immense workshops, where the metals are wrought, or mines from which comes the vast amount of coal needed to supply the country for fuel and purposes of industry—through at an enormous price just now; still on, past the rich farms, all under a high state of cultivation and yielding bountifully to the husbandman. And while one is thus dreaming and perhaps trying to comprehend the magnitude of this country, the wonders and beauties that he sees on this line, he is in Jersey City, and the boat waiting to take him across to New York, in time for a nine o'clock supper and a night's rest. But twenty-nine hours ago in Chicago, now in New York, "the Chicago of the East," as a resident of the former city has been pleased to call it!

GOVERNOR GEARY BEFORE THE PEOPLE.

A Republican mass-meeting in Bradford county, was addressed by Gov. GEARY on the 4th. He adverted to the reduction in the State debt, and said:

The Democrats ask, "Where do you get all this money?" We don't steal it. We don't filch it from the broad acres of the Commonwealth. We do not tax your property, your farms, your homes, your workshops, your tenements. If they are taxed, it is by your municipal, county or township authorities. We get most of the money from corporations, which, holding special privileges from the Commonwealth, are justly made to contribute to the government which protects them. And with the money thus raised we pay for our common schools, support thousands of soldiers' orphans, and give asylums to the unfortunate insane, and shelter to the lame, blind and halt. Mr. Packer would restore the tax on real estate, and extend his protecting wing to special corporate privileges; otherwise your debt would go on decreasing.

Of special legislation, of vetoes, and of pardons, he spoke as follows:

If you are desirous of stopping special legislation, the granting of special powers, and the incorporation of organized capital in any particular shape, you must send the proper representatives to Harrisburg so instructed—men, too, who will obey your instructions. You are directly responsible for the legislation of your representatives. It is between you and them. The Governor has no right to stop special legislation simply because he does not see any reason why it should not pass into the statute books. Representatives are supposed to know and follow the interests of and demands of their constituents at home much better than can your Executive; and if the bill is not in conflict with constitutional precepts, it is difficult, if not impossible, for him to prevent its enactment. Your representatives pass bills which they think are necessary for their people, and the Governor cannot question their asseverations.

In looking back for many years over the records of vetoes presented to the Legislature, I have found that they did not average more than ten or twelve per annum. My predecessor, during the six years of his administration, wrote 114 vetoes—just nineteen per annum. Of the three years of my administration thus far, I have written, in 1867, 69; in 1868, 69; in 1869, 79—in all, 217 vetoes, in which, I will venture to say, almost every principle of the government has in some way been involved. And no one of these vetoes has ever been overridden by the Legislature.

We thus have an average of 72⅓ vetoes per annum, or more than one for every day of legislative session. Were I to do more, the Legislature, I fear, would form such a "ring" as would prevent the Executive from stopping any legislation they might choose to enact. I have gone just as far as any Governor ever dared go. No Governor has ever vetoed as many bills and stopped as much evil legislation, and I have the proud consciousness of knowing that not one of the bills I have vetoed has ever passed the Legislature over my head.

Alluding to the subject of pardons, the Governor said that in their palmy days the Democracy pardoned four or five hundred criminals in a single year. The whole number of pardons during his first year was fifty-two. In 1868 the number was one hundred and six, owing to the fact that he could not see men mulcted in seven and eight hundred dollars fine for simply enforcing a statute, framed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor, preventing deserters from voting. During the current year the number had reached but forty, making a total of one hundred and ninety-eight during his term. Murder, perjury, arson, burglary, and kindred crimes should not go unpunished under his administration.

Tenement Houses.

Commissioner Dr. Stephen Smith, Chairman of the Sanitary Committee, made a report to the New York Board of Health, a few days since, in which he gave some interesting statements. He expressed forcibly the fact that the tenement house population are entirely dependent upon their landlords, and must put up with such quarters as the latter choose to furnish, which are generally the poorest possible. These houses are the very hot-beds of disease, no less of crime. It is among this class that all forms of contagious diseases thrive, as in a congenial soil, and from it that they so frequently burst forth and spread through the neighboring communities. And every year, whatever may be the general healthfulness of the town, it is in the tenement house district that the great balance-sheet of its excessive mortality is made up. Yet more than one-half the population live in tenement houses. The landlords of these houses are generally wealthy citizens, and many of them pay no personal attention whatever to their houses, transacting all their business through agents. These agents, as might be imagined, pay little or no attention to the sanitary condition of the houses. Dr. Smith quotes from several reports made by Inspector James to illustrate his remarks. There are a few houses which are occupied by the owner himself, or a careful agent, which are models of neatness, and it is here that the doctor finds a remedy for the evils complained of. He says that the trouble is not in the crowding of people together, but in the total neglect of all sanitary precautions. He closes, therefore, as follows:

"In view of these facts, the committee are of the opinion that the public health requires that all tenement houses, or groups of contiguous houses, having the same owner, having accomodations for ten families or upward, should be placed under the supervision of a superintendent, housekeeper, or overseer, selected and compensated by the owner, who, as the accredited agent of the property, shall be held responsible to the board for the faithful execution of the provisions of the Tenement House Act, and of such ordinances and regulations relating to tenement houses as the board may from time to time adopt."

Humboldt.

In Cincinnati a grand procession is to be held in honor of the great philosopher. The eminently cosmopolitan character of his life and works will be significantly referred to in the procession as follows:

"A great many ornamental cars are to be introduced in the procession, two of which, the first and second, will be gotten up in grand style, regardless of trouble and expense.

The first will have a raised platform, surmounted by a miniature temple, in which will be stationed two ladies, representing Columbia and Germania. On the steps leading up to the temple will be appropriately costumed young ladies, personating Philosophy, Industry, Science, &c.

Surrounding the steps of the temple on the platform will be placed plants from all parts of the world, and specimens of the products of all the climes visited by the great traveler and man of science.

On the second car will be placed a pedestal surmounted by a bust of Humboldt and surrounded by men representing the five races. This car will bear no national colors or flags but a large globe will be placed in front of the bust to indicate the cosmopolitan character of the man whose birth is being celebrated. The platform of this car, like that of the first, will be decorated with plants from all climes."

False Hair.

A Parisian journal gives us some very important commercial news. An immense fall is declared to have taken place in the value of ornamental hair worn by ladies who desire rather to make themselves more beautiful still than deceive. We are told that a depreciation of fifty per cent. has taken place in the value of "chignons, nattes, catogants, queues, agrementes, meches, and faux toupets." The financial reporter then goes on to say in a pathetic tone, "You ladies who fondly believe that you have some 2,000 francs' worth of false curls in your toilet drawers (the sum paid for such capillary ornaments), deceive yourselves no longer; it is only worth half that sum now." We are not told why this terrible reduction in the value of hair has taken place. The journal referred to says that if all the false hair worn by the Parisian ladies were collected in the Place Vendome and piled up, it would reach to the top of the Napoleon column. The price of these head decorations is pretty high. A light golden or straw-colored hair composition, which falls from the crown of the head down the back, is valued at 200fr., or £8. People who marry dark women will come of cheaper. Gray hair is very expensive.

THE last question is not whether Judge Packer pays his taxes in Mauch Chunk or Philadelphia—but whether he pays them at all anywhere. Revenue officials should set to work to sift out this mystery.

THREE OLD SAWS.

BY LUCY LARCOM.

If the world seems cold to you,
Kindle fires to warm it!
Let their comfort hide from view,
Winters that deform it.
Hearts as frozen as your own,
To that radiance gather;
You will soon forget to moan.
"Ah! the cheerless weather."

If the world's a wilderness,
Go build houses in it!
Will it help your loneliness
On the wind to din it?
Raise a hut, however slight,
Weeds and brambles smother;
And to root and meal invite
Some forlorner brother.

If the world's a vale of tears,
Smile till rainbows span it;
Breathe the love that life endears,
Clear from clouds to fan it;
Of your gladness lend a gleam
Unto souls that shiver;
Show them how dark Sorrows stream
Blends with Hope's bright river.

THE unfortunate lion-tamer, Lucas, died from the effects of his wounds.

ALPHONSE KARR says that no living prima donna is equal to Henrietta Sontag. Grisi or Mahoran in their palmiest days.

THE large village of Ghumleigh, in Devonshire, containing some 900 inhabitants, was half destroyed by fire on Wednesday afternoon. The calamity is attributed to children playing with lucifer matches.

THE attempts to employ naphtha as fuel have at length proved successful. On the 31st of July a train arrived safely in Kutschujan, eighty-one versts from Charkoff, whose engine was heated with raw naphtha instead of coal.

THE circulation of Rochefort's Lanterne has dwindled down to about twenty thousand copies. The French Police no longer take any pains to confiscate the Lanterne, and it is now sold quite openly nearly everywhere in France.

SHORTLY before his recent illness, the Emperor Napoleon was urged by Nelaton, Conneau and his other physicians to quit smoking cigarettes. The Emperor is said to have replied that smoking was as necessary to him as food and drink.

THE citizens of Frankfort have been natualizing their children as Swiss citizens, so that they might escape the Prussian draft. The Prussian government has taken very stringent measures to prevent this, and is said finally to have suppressed it entirely.

IN spite of the numerous fines imposed on Le Rappel, Victor Hugo's Parisian organ, and of the forced suspension of the paper in July last, the enteprise has proved very profitable and a quarterly dividend of twelve per cent. has been divided among the stockholders.

A REPORT from Paris is to the effect that M. Ledru Rollin will shortly return to France, in which case he would certainly be returned to the legislative body for the first vacancy which might happen in Paris. He is still under condemnation par contumace for complicity in the Tibaldi plot to assassinate the Emperor; but it is believed that this legal difficulty will be easily got over.

DUKE DE MONTPENSIER is said to have avenged himself on his sister-in-law, Queen Isabella, by buying at a high price a lot of her letters written to one of her favorites, at a time when their relations were very intimate. These letters he has caused to be reproduced in large numbers by means of a photographic process, and to be distributed all over Spain, where they have, of couse, produced a great scandal.

THE Pall Mall Gazette says: "The Holy Father is said to have derived from the Peter-penny from 1860 to the present year the large sum of eighty million francs, which gives an average of ten millions a year. The Pontificial treasury will immediately receive from the Italian government seven million five hundred francs on account of the Pontifical debt, this amount having been brought to Rome in gold. The Pope appears to be in the best of health. Every day he takes long walks, and last week he went as far as the cloister of St. Alexis, on Mount Aventine, and then out of Porta Pia."

SOME interesting facts are contained in a Parliamentary paper, moved for by the Lord Mayor. The average annual emigration from the United Kingdom for the ten years ending 1857 was 275,276, and for the corresponding period which terminated with 1867, only 161,915. The The larger number of emigrants still go to the United States. In 1867 there were 9,392 English laborers, 1,061 Scotch, and 23,775 Irish, who emigrated to the United States; 812 English, 132 Scotch, and 1,359 Irish embarked for British North America; 516 English, 185 Scotch, and 815 Irish to Australasia. No less than 11,227 Irish spinsters sailed for the United States.

THE Prussian journals state that an ice and cold-producing machine has been invented by M. Franz Windhausen Brunswick. The action of the machine is based on the principle of producing cold and warmth by the expansion and compression of atmospheric air, which is accomplished by means of mechanical power. The machines require no chemicals, nothing being used in them but water and atmospheric air; they may be wrought by steam, water, or wind, and they produce from 100 to 1,000 pounds of ice per hour, according to size, at a cost of from 2d. to 3d. per 100 pounds; this difference resulting from the varying prices of fuel and the mode of working chosen. One of their uses is to cool rooms, cellars, theatres, hospitals, compartments of ships, &c.

THE Countess Cattaneo, who was assassinated a few weeks ago by her patito in an Italian railroad car, was the sister in-law of Count Cattaneo, who was killed in a duel in Paris in the year 1858, by M. de Froidefond, the orderly officer of General Espe nasse, and who was himself killed in the following year at Magenta. This duel was brought about by an insignificant altercation at La Borde's dance house. M. de Froidefond had inadvertently run against the young Count Cattaneo, who angrily asked what he meant The officer, who had just come from a champagne dinner, boxed the ears of the Italian nobleman, who sent his "friends," with a challenge to him next morning. They woke up M. de Froidefond, who was sleeping the sleep of the just, and, as soon as he heard what was the matter, protested he could not remember having boxed the ears of any body; he offered to apologize for his volence, which he could well afford to do, his bravery being generally known. Cattaneo's friends returned to him with this answer, but the Count rejected the apology, and replied that the duel must take place the same day. It did take place, and Count Cattaneo was shot through the heart. Thus, in the course of ten years, two tragedies have taken place in the same family.

THE Lancet, the leading medical journal of England, and not one given to the adoption of novelties without consideration, has a rather remarkable article calling attention to the practicability of using bran for the cradles, or rather the nests, of new-born babies. Our contemporary is assured by mothers who have tried the new system—its supporters, by the way, will not allow that the system is new—that it answers admirably. The plan of action is as follows: An ordinary cradle is filled with common bran. A hair pillow is put in, and then the bran is moved aside with the hands until a "hollow" is formed the size of the child's body. The infant, divested of everything below the waist, and having a little bodice or cape above that, is then placed in the bran, and its body completely covered with it, exactly as may be seen at the seaside, where children play at burying one another in the sand. A light coverlet or counterpane is finally placed above all, and baby is in bed for the night. This method is pursued from almost as soon as infants are born until they are almost eight or ten months old. The plan is cleanly, as bran absorbs fluid readily, and the wet sinks below the dry. The heat around the baby is equable, and of sufficient temperature. An entirely new supply of bran is required once a fortnight.

I., left bequests ranging from $2,000 to $5,000 in bank stock to nearly every Baptist church in the city, and made the Charitable Baptist Society his residuary legatees, after some small bequests to his relatives. His estate is worth between $50,000 and $100,000.

ABOUT ten thousand bushels of peaches have been shipped this season by the fruit growers near New Albany, Indiana, to Chicago, Milwaukee, Lafayette and Indianapolis. The fruit growers in that region calculate that next year there will be at least one hundred thousand more fruit trees in bearing in Floyd county than this year, provided the fruit is not killed by the winter and spring freezing.

A MAN very much afflicted with palsy, living at Buffalo Furnace, Ohio. had his strength restored under singular circumstances. While sitting in his room, not long since, the chimney of the house was struck by lightning, and the fluid passing into the apartment, divided at the mantel piece, a "streak" going either way, tearing the wood as it went. The palsied man sensibly felt the shock, leaped from his chair, and was thus suddenly restored, and still more gratifying, has so remained. So says the Ironton Register.

Two Heroes.

Before the recent rebellion, Col. W.—, during a short sojourn in Vicksburg, met there some hot-blooded Southerners, with a spirit as fiery as his own. They quarreled—a coallenge was passed and accepted, and the next rising sun was to witness one, if not both, of their dead bodies, drenched in blood, to wash out wounded honor. During the night, the colonel said he heard a boat coming up the river, and it struck him, as he heard the boat puffing and blowing, that 'prudence was the better part of valor." So he took his trunk upon his shoulder, and stepped, very quietly out of the hotel. As he neared the boat, whom should he see but his antagonist, at the boat before him, just going on board! He returned as he had gone out, and was on the ground next morning, with his second, waiting, with disappointed wrath, for his antagonist, and published him as an absconding scoundrel.

Mr. Halvey the foreman is probably fatally hurt.

SIX cows belonging to Henry Ruth, residing near Alburtes Station, were killed on the East Penn Railroad by the lightning express train east, on the 2d. It is believed the cows were driven on the track designedly, to wreck the train, as three vagabond-looking strangers were seen in the vicinity during the day, and suspicion strengthened by the fact that on the evening previous they were detected in an attempt to place an obstruction on the track at Alburtes Station. On being remonstrated with each displayed a revolver, and seemed highly indignant.

DR. WHITTIER CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL private diseases Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A.M. to 9 P.M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, Sept. 11, 1869.

Business has been fairly active during the past week, fully up to the standard of this season of the year, and with navigation resumed, the indications for a still further improvement are favorable. The receipts of grain have been rather light which may be attributed to the fact that dealers have little or no margin, at present prices, and like other men they do not feel like working for nothing: the trouble lies in the fact that prices are relatively higher in the country than in the city—farmers have been accustomed for many years to getting big figures for their products that they dont like to come down, but it looks now as if they would be obliged to submit to old fashioned prices. Flour is dull with a supply fully up to the demand, though there is no accummulation of stock. Fruit of all kinds is abundant, though with a steady demand, prices, generally, are well sustained.

APPLES—Unchanged; we continue to quote at $2,50@3 per bbl for prime to good, $3,50 for prime, and $4 for choice.

BERRIES—Unchanged; $1@1,10 per bucket—mostly at the inside figure.

BUTTER—Is firm and in steady demand, with regular sales of prime to choice at 33@35.

CEMENT—Johnstown Hydraulic Cement is quoted at $2,25 per bbl.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to receed steadily at this point, with 9½ feet by the Allegheny marks last evening, and a foot less by those of the Monongahela. Weather clear and pleasant—mercury 79 in the shade.

The Belle from Parkersburg, due here on Friday night, did not get in until Saturday evening, having been detained by fog. She departed again the same day.

The Bellevernon from Parkersburg, where she had been laid waiting for water, has arrived, and the Kate Putnam from Cincinnati is due here to-night.

The St. Marys departed for Cincinnati on Saturday, with an excellent freight list, quite a number of passengers and lugagements below. Pilots, Johnston Mulrine and George O'Neal.

The Glendale, Capt. Bare, with Capt. J. Mellon in the office, will positively take her departure for St. Louis to-day, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind.

The towboat Ironsides has arrived.

The Wild Duck will be ready to leave this evening or to morrow, and shippers should bear this in mind. Capt. Anawalt will attend to parties having business with the Wild Duck—he is assisted by Gen. Chas. Banes.

—The Importer is loading at St. Louis for Arkansas River.

—Captain George Rea loads the Jefferson at St. Louis for Red River direct.

—Colonel Work, of Texas, is prospecting on the Ohio for a light-draught boat.

—Resistance to payment of insurance on the Coosa, burned Tuesday morning, will be made.

—The Cincinnati and Louisville Mail Company refuse to give up the Maj. Anderson for another week.

—It is rumored that a couple of boats will shortly be placed in the Pittsburgh and Louisville packet trade,

—Capt. C. L. Brennan has, or is about to contract for a fine side-wheel boat for the Pittsburgh and Parkersburgh trade.

—The Pink Varble was sold at Cincinnati on Thursday to Capts. J. W. Roberts and N. C. Shelby, of New Albany, for $6,500.

—The R. C. Gray, Capt. Isaac R. Whittaker, with Capt. W. B. Anderson in the office, is announced for Cincinnati and Louisville forthwith.

—On Thursday morning, a lady passenger on the Pink Varble gave birth to a bouncing big boy, and the little fellow was christened Pink Varble.

—The Great Republic, St. Louis to New Orleans, left Cairo on Thursday, drawing 12 feet, the largest trip that ever left that port in September.

—The Kenton was to have left Cincinnati for this port on Saturday, and as already noted, she will at once assume her place in the Pittsburgh and Portsmouth trade.

—The Kate Putnam left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Thursday, without taking any freight, other than what she already had aboard when she arrived from St. Louis and laid up on account of low water.

—The new steamer, Julia A. Rudolph, Capt. H. G. McComas, is filling up steadily for New Orleans, and will take her her departure on Wednesday without fail. Passengers and shippers can rely on her going through.

—At a late meeting of the stockholders of the Memphis and Arkansas River Packet Company, the following Directors were chosen: John D. Adams, Captain John Woodburn, Captain Reub. Haines, Capt. Reese Pritchard and Harrison Blasdell.

—General Spooner, United States Marshal for the State of Indiana, took possession of the steamer Charleston, at Louisville, on Wednesday, and had her towed over to New Albany. Captain Bates, of the Charleston, has brought suit against General Spooner for $10,000 damages. The Charleston, it will be remembered, was seized at Evansville a few weeks ago and "skipped out" without settling.

—We clip the following from the Cincinnati Gazette of Friday: The St. Charles, which has been under charter to the U S. Mail Line for more than nine months past, will be turned over to her owners to-day. Think of a company chartering a boat to the amount of $27,000! It is almost incredible. The Maj. Anderson was sold by the company for less money, and one of many boats might have been purchased for the same amount, that would have answered the company's purpose. The owners of the St. Charles have made money by the charter.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket, which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended.

It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c. GOLD closed in New York on Saturday at 133⅛@133¼.

THE PERIL of Republican dissensions in Maryland has been averted, it is said, by a cordial fusion between the Bond and Cresswell wings of the party.

THE reported tender of the Chinese mission to George Wilkes, of New York, is positively denied. It is said to have been offered to a prominent citizen, whose name has not yet transpired.

MAINE elects a Governor, with other State officers, and a Legislature to-day. The Gubernatorial candidates are Gen. J. L. Chamberlain, (Rep.), Franklin Smith, (Dem.), and N. G. Hinchborn, (Temp.)

THE entire property of New York has been valued, by the State Board of Equalization, as follows: Real, $1,418,132,805; personal, $441,987,845; total, $1,860,120,650. Of this aggregate, about sixty per cent. is listed in the Metropolitan police-district, which has but thirty-two per cent of the total population.

THE ONLY Constitutional disqualification which will embarrass the members-elect to the new Virginia Legislature, which meets October 5th, is that which the XIVth Article of the Federal Constitution prescribes. No member can be sworn who, as an officer of the State or of the United States, has ever taken, and violated an oath to support that Constitution.

THE President expresses the Republican sentiment, in pledging his cordial approval of the straight Republican organization which General Davis leads and which Hamilton opposes in Texas. With equally good reasons, General GRANT hopes for the election of Alcorn, the probable candidate of the Mississippi Republicans, over the Conservative dodge which pretends to follow Judge Dent.

PUBLIC RUMOR again assigns the vacant portfolio of the War-office to some citizen of Pennsylvania. Connecticut wants it for Governor Hawley and Iowa for General Wilson. But the indications point to a Presidential preference for one of our own citizens. With Hon. G. A. Grow, the names of Hon. J. D. Cameron and of Hon. G. H. Stuart are also mentioned. Western Pennsylvania presents no candidate. The Republicans of this section will heartily join with their friends throughout the State in felicitations upon the appointment of either of these distinguished and most capable citizens.

THE suspension of the Memphis Post, the ablest Republican journal in Tennessee, and the only one in the Western division of the State, is said to be due to the withdrawal by Governor SENTER, of the public printing from its columns. The Post has been fearlessly and faithfully conducted, in the face of the local sentiment which sways that region of Tennessee. Its course has been impartial and candid throughout the recent canvass, taking but very moderate ground, and at a late hour, in favor of the Stokes ticket. If Governor SENTER aims in this way, to stifle Republican journalism, there is but little to hope for from the Republican pledges upon which he sought and secured his own election.

THE PRESIDENT IN PITTSBURGH.

President GRANT and family will reach this city to-morrow, by the noon train from the East, and will remain at the Monongahela House until Wednesday morning, when they will proceed to Washington county, to visit relatives there.

With the Presidential party will be Senator SCOTT, Hon. J. D. Cameron, President of the Northern Central Railway, and other distinguished citizens of the Commonwealth.

The President will be a welcome visitor to a community which, in November last, attested its grateful sense of his conspicuous military services, and its confidence in his fidelity and capacity for the highest civil trust, with nearly two-thirds of forty thousand votes.

He comes to us to-morrow not as the representative of a party, but as the Chief magistrate of all the people, and as such he will be received and honored by all the citizens of the county and of western Pennsylvania.

It is presumed that the proper arrangements will be made to-day, for such public courtesies upon his arrival and during his brief stay in Pittsburgh, as will honor his high office, the meritorious citizen who fells it, and the people of these large and hospitable cities.

VIRGINIA REPUBLICANISM.

The recent avowal by Gov. Wells, of Virginia, of his hearty and unqualified acceptance of the policy of removing all political disabilities from the citizens of his State, substantially relieves the previous embarrassments in the way of a cordial reunion of all the Republican supporters of GEN GRANT'S administration. In another week, Gov. Wells retires from an office which he has creditably filled, signalizing the close of his Executive term by a declaration of the highest value to his reputation for statesmanlike patriotism. Accepting thus the results of a canvass in which he was himself the exponent of that dogma of restriction which he now abandons, he has the courage to avow his error, and the magnanimity to commend the policy which he had unsuccessfully opposed, to the cordial support of every Virginia Republican. Graceful as this surrender is, it should have a decisive influence with the people of that State.

We may now look with absolute confidence to the Republican re-union in the Old Dominion. Gov. Walker will next week enter upon the Executive office, with good reasons for relying upon the support and co-operation of a large majority of the people. The lines that unfortunately divided for awhile a great party, are effectiyely obliterated, and it now only needs that his administration should be faithful to the principles upon which that party has come at last to agree, to ensure the long continued maintenance of the Republican ascendancy in that State. Sustained by this powerful expression of the people, the Governor will be able to make good the expectations which his own language has justified, while the Conservatives of the new Legislature cannot fail to recognize and respect the public voice. Coming events will show, as for the two leading competitors in the recent canvass, whether one of them has plucked the higher honor from defeat, or the other from his fidelity against the multiplied temptations which may assail his success.

A Republican State Convention has been invited to assemble at Richmond, November 24th. Before that day, the new Legislature, meeting October 5th, will be likely to have adjourned. The Convention cannot fail to be wisely instructed by the results of a Legislative session which is certain to reveal the policy of the oppositon, with the effect of consolidating the Republican party of Virginia.

AN APPEAL TO THE CHARITABLE.

At this writing, we are permitted to see but one manifestation of the sympathy which should move a Christian people, like ours, to stretch out a charitable and soothing hand to the small army of living sufferers, the destitute widows and orphans of Avondale. The Miners' Society of Wilkinsburg, in summoning a meeting of the coal-miners of Allegheny, must have credit for taking the initiative in any movement whatever among our people, for the practical recognition of the claims of the Avandale mourners upon the public compassion. Shall the movement rest there?

If there be, in this wealthy, intelligent and religious community, any charitably disposed persons who feel moved to assist these stricken women and children, in the hour when they need it most, there will be no difficulty in securing the transmission of their donations. If no other mode suggests itself to the benevolent, their contributions may be handed into the GAZETTE counting-room and we will undertake the delivery to the local committee at Avondale. A dollar now will be worth more to them than ten dollars a week or two hence. The "National Bank of Pittsburgh" is also designated by that committee, as a depository; no one of the National Banks is specified, but we presume that any of these institutions will promptly attend to the remittances. Contributions may also be sent directly to Henderson Gaylord, Treasurer of Relief Fund, Plymouth, Pa.

DEMOCRATIC MILLIONAIRE DODGING HIS TAXES.

The Mauch Chunk Gazette gives chapter and verse, to explain the awkward scrape in which Mr. Asa Packer, the very wealthy candidate of the opposition, has been caught.

The Judge brought his carpet-bag from Connecticut to Mauch Chunk in 1833, and that has ever since been his "home"—the legal, usual, actual and only residence of himself and his family. When the war made a heavy bounty-tax necessary for that county, and also largely increased the "poor-tax," for the support of the families of the living and dead soldiers, in July, '67, Mr. Packer was duly notified, by the proper officials, that the following sums were due from him:

For State Tax	$2833 74
" Special State Tax	557 99
" Borough Tax	5767 17
" School Tax	9228 88
" County Tax	9225 88
" Poor Tax	5767 17
Total	$33 382 77

His assessment, at that date, at Mauch Chunk, was upon $1,128,385 personal property and $25,050 real estate. He positively refused to pay, saying that "he had got himself assessed in Philadelphia and should pay his taxes there." He continued to reside at Mauch Chunk with his family, as usual. Going occasionally to Philadelphia, he registered himself always at the Merchants' Hotel as "Asa Packer, Mauch Chunk."

Threatened with distress-warrants for his delinquent taxes, he finally paid, on the 5th of February, '68, the full amount. Out of this, the county and borough had to pay $2,002.84 for lawyers' fees and other expenses of collection.

He did "get himself assessed" at Philadelphia. Worth $20,000,000, and taxed for over one million of dollars at home, this excellent Democrat procured himself to be assessed in Philadelphia, thus:

Mortgages	$5,000
Monies on Interest	8,500
Salary as Vice President L. V. R. R.	8,500
Two Gold Watches	200
Total	$26,500

Thus giving in but one-hundreth part of his substance at Philadelphia, he attempted to get out of all taxation upon the other ninety-nine hundreths at Mauch Chunk.

No statute at that time exempted stocks from local taxation in Philadelphia. If there had been, his correct valuation should have been returned for State purposes.

His Philadelphia assessment did answer its intended purpose. He not only cut down his valuation from over a million to a paltry sixteen thousand, but he has not paid one cent of tax on that in Philadelphia, nor since the tax of '67, not a mill of personal tax in Mauch Chunk. For 1868 and 1869, this twenty-million Democratic candidate has dodged his personal tax altogether. What do the people think about it?

REGISTRATION IN ALLEGHENY.

Under the provisions of the law of the last session for the registration of voters, the Assessors of this county have attended to that duty and filed their returns with the Commissioners. We present, below, a complete list of the wards, boroughs, townships and precincts, with the Assessors' names and the aggregate registration returned by each. No returns appear from the 15th ward of Pittsburgh. We also annex, for the purpose of comparison, the aggregate vote of each election district in November last.

It is seen that while the registry is less than the Presidential vote in many of the districts, it is largely in excess thereof, in others, and that the total registration exceeds the total poll last November by 656, to which the sum of the 15th ward registry is to be added.

We find in this statement intrinsic proofs of the general fidelity with which their duty has been performed by the Assessors. The marked variations in some of the precincts, between the registry and the November poll, which was the largest ever cast here, will attract attention. Why the registry is less in a majority of instances, and so much larger in other cases, is capable of an obvious explanation. In a manufacturing and mining county like ours, a not inconsiderable percentage of the population, whether in city or country, is regularly transient, under the exigencies of employment, from one district to another. The suspension of some special branch of industry, or increased activity in some other branch, will speedily draw large accessions to one neighborhood or scatter the operatives massed in another. Hence a district which shows this year a gain or a loss in its voting population, may exhibit a contrary state of things a twelvemonth hence.

Again, these returns, taken collectively, afford a gratifying proof of the steadily advancing prosperity of town and country. Considering that our manufactures are not confined to the strictly urban districts, much of that industry being planted in the outlying precincts and boroughs, we perceive that the county should, more than is usually the rule elsewhere, be regarded as an entirety, irrespective of country or town. Taken as a whole then, we shall see that Allegheny is one of the few counties of the State where a registry, taken in the summer of '69, exhibits a larger adult population of male citizens than were represented in a very full poll of their votes given nine months before.

That this is a solid, substantial proof of our steadily increasing population—itself also a satisfactory evidence of our continued prosperity as a community—is the more apparent when we remember that this registration is of necessity not perfect, the law wisely providing for the correction of the lists in specified modes. These corrections are likely to add considerably to the total number of voters.

On the whole, we must reiterate our satisfaction in this showing, whether as it discloses the rapid and solid growth of the material interests of the county, or for the proofs it affords of the intelligent fidelity with which our assessors have discharged the novel duties imposed upon these officers by the new law, and which, under the peculiar features of the case, have been executed with equal speed and precision.

Total Vote, November, 1868			40,158

*Lincoln and Forward (tps.) and Union (borough) are new, erected since November.

A new arrangement and sub-division of the precincts have been made in Elizabeth, Shaler, Ross and Versailles since last election.

NOTWITHSTANDING the averment of the World that GOV. HOFFMAN, of New York, would persist in declining to certify the ratification of the XVth Article by the last Legislature, to the Federal Secretary of State, the Governor declines complicity in such partizanship, and has duly transmitted his official certificate of that action to Washington. It may be harsh to suggest that his duty in the premises, so long neglected, has seemed clearer since it became manifest that the ratification by New York would be certified, if need be, in some other sufficient way. We prefer to credit him with the wise resolution to do his plain duty, irrespective of partizan influences.

The Article was rejected in Georgia, but, it is said, Gov. Bullock refuses to certify that action to Washington. No fault should be found with this refusal, since the Governor is entirely right. It is only in case of ratification that the Vth Article of the Constitution renders any certificate necessary. Until three-fourths of the States shall thus record their affirmations, no amendment can become a part of that instrument. Whether from the omission to act, or under an express rejection, all the States not thus certified must be counted againt such a proposition. A certificate of rejection is wholly superfluous.

WE WERE in error in the statement that the bill regulating the mines and protecting life in Schuylkill county failed to become a law last winter. It was enacted, as a local measure, after the amendment to make it general throughout the State had been defeated by the Democratic Senators. The Pottsville Journal says:

This bill, so far as this County is concerned, makes some wise provisions for the better ventilation of mines, and protects, to a certain degree, the lives of the miners. But we have an Inspector of Mines whose duty it is, amongst others, to see that the mines are properly ventilated, and to see that the workmen have the proper means and appliances for egress in case of accidents. Now, had this law been extended to Luzerne county, and placed in practical operation, through a competent and skilled Inspector, the community might have been spared the harrowing recital of the recent horrible disaster.

When our members desired the active co operation of the members from the other coal counties to pass our present bill, their assistance was rendered in a manner which showed plainly that they did not at all comprehend its importance; and when it was proposed to them to have the provisions of the Act extended to their respective counties, the idea was coldly received, and passed over without action.

GOVERNOR GEARY visited the Avondale Colliery on the 10th, manifesting his sympathy with the suffering which the appalling calamity has occasioned, and directing special inquiries upon points which his next message will urge as requiring Legislative attention. The Governor was also at Honesdale on the 9th, pronouncing the oration of the day at the dedication of the Wayne county Soldiers' Monument. His audience was the largest concourse of people ever assembled in that county, who welcomed his address with marks of the highest satisfaction. A letter says:

The monument is about twenty feet high, of granite, pyramidal in shape, and is ten feet square at the base. The figure surmounting it is bronze, and represents a soldier at rest, with knapsack, gun and accoutrements. The whole monument cost some $5,000, which was raised by the untiring exertions of the ladies.

MINOR TOPICS

IT IS SAID that when Miss Anna Dickinson was at Yo Semite, she scorned conventionality, and getting astride her mule, rode it in a truly masculine manner. In spite of the brilliancy of Miss Dickinson's career we do not believe she has ever done anything more truly sensible than that. Could anything, upon reflection, be more ridiculously dangerous than the present fashion of hanging ladies onto a couple of hooks on the side of a horse; exposed to all the dangerous caprices of that often very capricious animal? The one position is in reality not a whit more delicate than the other; whereas the danger to a person siting astride a horse is not a tithe so great. Dress half the women in the world in long flowing habits, and then hang them on a saddle hook, then dress the other half in a sensible and suitable garb, and place them in the true position on hookless saddles, and in six months you would find that, what with being thrown and dragged, and having the habits frighten the horses or catch in passing wheels, the list of mortality in the first half would very greatly outnumber that of the second. We firmly believe that a fear of Mrs. Grundy is all that prevents the abandonment of this ridiculous custom, and we admire Miss Dickinson's independence and good sense in this respect.

SCIENCE certainly does make wonderful strides. As is well known, it has, in some of its branches, gone so far that a new significance has been found necessary for many of the statements in the Bible which orthodox theologians were formerly in the habit of taking as literal. The age of the world, the length of time employed in its formation and furnishing, the deluge and its true significance and duration, all these have been examined in the light of science and the Biblical account found reliable if looked upon in the proper way. One after the other, the world has swallowed these views and become accustomed to the change, but some British savans now pretend to have made a discovery which attacks the very roots of one of our oldest and most favorite articles of faith. It explains one of the darkest and most terrible of the mysteries of old by bringing it under the scientific microscope. We refer to the total destruction of the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, which English philosophers attribute, not to showers of liquid fire and brimstone, but to an unusually severe and concentrated shower of November meteors.

FEW sights are more melancholy than a renowned man who, still in his full vigor, has outlived his popularity. Not one out of a thousand, in such circumstances, can preserve both his dignity and his temper. We have in the world at present, two brilliant specimens of the other nine hundred and ninety-nine. Mr. Andrew Johnson and Mr. Alexander Dumas. The former shows a wonderful energy, combined with fiery temper; the latter in his efforts to attract attention and regain his former pre-eminence, succeeds in accomplishing much that is sadly ridiculous. Every American knows what Mr. Johnson has made of himself in his efforts for a renewal of popular favor. Dumas, on the contrary, has almost succeeded in making a fool of himself. Mournful are the vagaries of unappreciated genius.

THE proposed celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Humboldt, is one of the most beautiful and significant evidences of the growing success of the mission of this republic. Not only is the great German's memory cherished and honored by his countrymen, but it is held in the highest esteem by Americans of all nationalities of birth. The equalizing and amalgamating influence of our institutions is here most clearly shown. When the proper time arrives to show our regard for the great German, we are all Germans, just as, upon the 22d of February, we are all Americans, and on the Fourth of July we are all brothers in the great family of Liberty. Every opportunity for thus uniting in a community of rejoicing should be seized upon, and then, year by year, we may gradually forget our widely different origin, lose our special interests in the petty nationalities of Europe and become a great united nation of free men, unanimous in our allegiance to the Republic.

WE have frequently seen it stated, recently, in grave essays and compendious leading articles, that the whole world is in that state of expectancy which is supposed always to precede some astonishing invention or discovery. As yet, the nature of this crowning glory of our century of invention is unknown, but undoubtedly hundreds of men are laboring and toiling close upon its brink. Be this as it may, it is certain that the civilized man feels himself in a transition period as regards dress if in no other way. The simple modern costume, which began with the sans culottes of France, and has culminated in the ungraceful and rather clumsy full-dress costume of the period, has always been made on the one model, differing only occasionally in minor details. We think that this dress has already seen its palmiest days; its glories have begun already to depart. Already rumors of a radical change from black long clothes to brillant short ones are prevalent, and before the close of the next decade, the pigeon-tail coat and tight trowsers will probably be stowed away with the stocks and the peg-tops of by-gone generations.

THE city of Norfolk is looming up as a formidable rival of Baltimore. Her harbor is better and more accessible, her southern railroad connections are becoming very numerous and valuable, and, before very long, she will attract a large amount of western and south-western trade, by means of the, soon-to-be-completed, Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad. We know of no city with prospects for a more brilliant future. It must necessarily keep pace with the rapid growth which may be looked for before very long in the Southern States, and there seems to be no reasonable room to doubt that it will one day be one of our most flourishing seaports. Baltimoreans look on it with a little jealousy, but a brisk rivalry will do neither city any harm, and the prosperity of the South, growing as it is, will be able to support both of these maratime cities and several more into the bargain.

MR. HENRY DRAYTON, a prominent member of the newly organized Richings English Opera Troupe, is accused, in Philadelphia papers, of having exhibited in London in 1863, a panorama called "Federals and Confederates" for the avowed purpose of aiding the rebellion. The lecture with which he accompanied this exhibition, contained some of the most preposterous falsehoods concerning the manners and customs of the North, that were ever manufactured. He accused our women of an almost universal lack of chastity, and our people generally of utter ignorance of decency and virtue. Our cotemporary gives extracts from the lecture which if they be authentic, are quite sufficient to render it inexpedient for Mr. Drayton to attempt to appear in public before any intelligent audience in a northern city. The day after the appearance of the expose, the morning papers of Philadelphia announced that Mr. Drayton would that night sing the "Star Spangled Banner" at the Academy of Music. Such tardy and easy retribution will hardly suffice to place him right before the people.

THOU BRINGEST ME LIFE—LUNG-WORT.

One of the truest and most suggestive ideas can be obtained from the caption at the head of this art cle; for of all diseases which impair human health and shorten human life, none are more prevalent than those which affect the lungs and pulmonary tissues. Whether we regard lung diseases in the light of a merely slight cough, which is but the fore-runner of a more serious malady, or as a deep lesion corroding and dissolving the pulmonary structure, it is always pregnant with evil and foreboding of disaster. In no class of maladies should the physician or the friends and family of the patient be more seriously forewarned than in those of the lungs, for it is in them that early and effeient treatment is most desirable, and it is then that danger can be warded off and a cure effected. In DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE you have a medicine of the greatest value in all these conditions. An alterative, a tonic, a nutrient and resolvent, succoring nature and sustaining the recuperative powers of the system, Its beautiful workings, in harmony with the regular functions, can be readily observed by the use of one or two bottles: it will soon break up the chain of morbid sympathies that disturb the harmonious workings of the animal economy. The harrassing cough, the painful respiration, the sputum streaked with blood, will soon give place to the normal and proper workings of health and vigor.

An aggregated experience of over thirty years has enabled Dr. Keyser, in the compounding of his LUNG CURE, to give new hope to the consumptive invalid and at the same time speedy relief in those now prevalent, catarrhal and throat affections, so distressing in their effects and so almost certainly fatal in their tendencies, unless cured by some appropriate remedy. DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE is so thorough and efficient, that any one who has ever used it, will never be without it in the house. It will often cure when everything else fails, and in simple cases will cure oftentimes in a few days.

The attention of patients, as well as medical men, is respectfully invited to this new and valuable addition to the pharmacy of the country.

DR. KEYSER may be consulted every day until 1 o'clock P. M. at his Great Medicine Store, 167 Liberty street, and from 4 to 6 and 7 to 9 at night.

THE FEVER AND AGUE SEASON.

When the leaves begin to change, remittent and intermittent fevers make their appearance. From the surface of the earth, bathed nightly in heavy dews, from marshes and swamps surcharged with moisture, from the dying foliage of the woods, from festering pools and sluggish streams, the sun of September evolves clouds of miasmatic vapor perilous to health and life. The body, deprived by the burning temperature of July and August of much of its vigor and elasticity, is not in a proper plight to resist malaria, and hence all diseases that are produced by a depraved condition of the atmosphere are particularly prevalent in the Fall.

There is no reason why the health of thousands of people should be thus sacrificed. A preparatory course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTER'S is a certain protection against the epidemics and endemics which Autumn brings in its train. Let all dwellers in unhealthy localities, liable to such visitations, give heed to the warning and advice conveyed in this advertisement, and they may bid defiance to the foulest halations which are now rising, night and day, from the soil around them. No farmhouse in the land should be without this invaluable exhilerant and invigorant at any period of the year, but especially in the Fall. It is not safe to go forth into the chill, misty atmosphere of a September morning or evening with the stomach unfortified by a tonic, and of all the tonics which medical chemistry has yet given to the world, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are admitted to be the purest, the most wholesome and the most beneficial.

Let all who desire to escape the bilious attacks, bowel complaints and malarious fevers, take the BITTERS at least twice a day throughout the present season. It is as wholesome as it is infallible. Look to the trade-mark, "HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS," engraved on the label and embossed on the bottle, and their revenue stamp covering the cork, as counterfeits and imitations abound.

They are a first mortgage upon the extension of the road from Sheridan, Kansas, to Denver, Colorado. The road in operation, 437 miles long, upon which it is also a mortgage, NOW EARNS MORE THAN ENOUGH NET INCOME TO PAY THE INTEREST ON THE NEW LOAN. There is no better security in the market—this being in some respects better than Government Securities. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD. Price 96, and accrued Interest, in Currency. PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, September 11, 1869.
A good deal has been said within the last month in regard to the intention of refiners suspending operations for want of a margin, but as the shipments held up pretty well, it was received by many with considerable allowance. The shipments during the week which has just closed furnish proof sufficient to satisfy the most incredulous that there is something in it, 6,695 bbls against 11,159 last week, and over 1,3000 bbls the week preceding that. We find by reference to the file of the GAZETTE of 1868, that the shipments during the week ending Sept. 12, of that year, were 17,120 bbls, and the week preceding, 15,699; from this it will be seen that the shipments this week are but little over one third of what they were last year. As we have already intimated, our manufacturers "shut down" for the very good reason that they could make nothing by running, and it was hoped, and hopes are still entertained, that a movement of this kind would place the market in a healthy condition, that is force refined up or crude down, it matters not which, so that a fair manufacturer's profit could be secured. Thus far, it must be confessed, the movement has not been a success, as crude appears to be fully as strong as it was during the earlier part of the week, and this, too, right in the face of a largely increased production; while refined, notwithstanding the suspension of the most of the largest concerns and largely decreased shipments, is dull and, if anything, weak, and prices are a fraction lower than during the early part of the week. As we have already stated, however, hopes are still entertained that there will be a reaction, and many argue that it is a matter of necessity, that the actual oil is now wanted, and not paper contracts, and that with reduced stocks and very light shipments, prices must rule higher. There is this, however, and it should not be lost sight of, the trade at large is not so much interested in an advance or a decline, in the one or the other, as it is in getting prices equalized, so as to afford a margin to both manufacturer and dealer, and the sooner this can be realized, the better for all concerned.
Receipts Crude this week, 15,027; last week, 25,850; from January 1st to date, 563,972; same time last year, 790,488; Exports Refined this week, 6,695; last week, 11,159; January 1st to date, 361,812; same time last year, 459,617. Sales this week, 36,700; last week, 69,500.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

SEPTEMBER MAGAZINES.

Harper's Monthly is a superb number, and is especially rich in illustrations. The text of these articles, "Photographs from the High Rocks," "The Eye and the Camera," "Border Reminiscences," "A Health Trip to Brazil," are as instructive as entertaining. The paper of Conway entitled, "An Author's Memories of Authors," is quite readable. As usual the installment of fiction, "A Brave Lady," "My Enemy's Daughter," and "The New Timothy," grow in interest as each of the novels proceed. "Foster-Brothers," "Two Clever by Half," "The Progress of Electricity," will repay reading. Reader, do not pass "Leander Doolittle." The editorial departments are fine, particularly the "Easy Chair."

The Atlantic Monthly claims unusual attention this month, by the press and the public, on account of the startling revelations of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, relative to Lord and Lady Byron. This distinguished author claims to have indisputable facts in her possession. However, we have already spoken upon the merits of the article, and await future developements, said to be forthcoming from Mrs. Stowe. Careful readers will find in this number capital papers from Rev. J. F. Clarke on "Confucius and the Chinese," "Logrolling at Washington," by Parton, and "The Genius of Dore."

The Galaxy opens with a good installment of "Susan Fielding." "Jersey Cows" and "Our Mineral Springs," are rich in facts of a substantial type. Crapsey's article, "Our Criminal Population," contains startling facts, that will awaken grave thoughts. Theodore Tilton, of the Independent, is sketched in tones of scathing severity. We should not care for such compliments. Charles Reade's novel waxes more interesting. Justin McCarthy's article, "The Irish Church Dethroned," is timely and by one well qualified to write sensibly on this live question. "The Unsociableness of Society," by Richard Grant White, is a sterling paper and full of hits that strike hard. Edited departments very choice.

Lippincott's Magazine for this month is occupied to a considerable extent with serial articles, "The Vicar of Bullhampton," "Bey and the Breakers," "Magdalena." This will not be regretted by the readers of the magazine, and those who have not read the first chapters will be induced to secure the preceding ones. The practical and graceful are happily blended—"Grouse Shooting," "The National Debt," representing the former, and "Myra's Mirror" and "Snow upon the Waters," the latter. The brief paper on "The National Debt" happily illustrates one of the specialties of this excellent magazine. "Our Monthly Gossip" is well flavored.

Putnam's Monthly opens with a solid paper on "Monks and Nuns in France," that will cause a flutter in some circles. "The Eclipse," by the late Fenimore Cooper, though written in Paris about quarter a century ago, is as fresh and racy as if penned at the recent eclipse. "English Show Places," by Mrs. Nathl Hawthorne, might be more attractive if more care had been exercised in dealing with historical facts. The installments of the serials, "To-day," and "Lavina" are inviting. Prof. Shele de Vere's paper will be read with keen relish by the thoughtful. Two papers—"Left Wounded on the Field and "The Old Hospital," have an air of tender interest. "Colleges and College Education," and other brief articles are good. Bayard Taylor and R. H. Stoddard are well represented in this number.

Hours at Home contains several excellent articles. This monthly usually gives substantial matter and well-suited for family reading. The first paper "A Double Literary Career" gives a picture of a German student that contains valuable lessons. "Neander's Last Birthday" is a touching sketch of the great historian. Much scientific information of a practical character may be gathered from "Life at Great Ocean Depths," and "The First Week of the Telegraph." Installments of "Compton Friars" and "Christopher Krov" are given. The power of "Words for Parting," is sweet and ringing with melody. As usual the notes at the close are excellent.

Our Young Folks, is as usual, brimful of racy articles for little and big folks of both sexes. No barrier to sex, color, climate or age to read this jaunty monthly. Aldrich; "Story of a Bad-Boy," still continues fresh and juicy. Much may be learned about "Humming Birds," girls will find something about "Croquet," and "Gardening for Girls," contains lessons of a useful character. Parton's "Discovery of the Maderia Islands," "Lawrence Among the Iron Men," by Trowbridge, are all readable and instructive. Lucy Larcom's; song, "Swing Away," will attract attention.

STATE POLITICS.

A REPUBLICAN MASS MEETING was held in Union Hall, Johnstown, on Saturday.

ELEVEN Democratic meetings are to be held in Greene county before the election.

GOV. GEARY, Senator Scott and Judge Kelley are to speak at Towanda and Honesdale.

HON. E. BILLINGFELT has been renominated to the State Senate by the Republicans of Lancaster county.

THE DEMOCRATS of Dauphin county have nominated a county ticket, with Gen. Joe. Knipe at its head.

SENATOR LOWRY, of Erie, announces that the report of his resignation is not founded on facts; his health is improving.

HON. DANIEL KALBFUS, of Mauch Chunk, Mr. Packer's place of residence, addressed a large crowd at Ebensburg on Thursday evening.

COL. JOHN BUCHANAN, Chairman of the Republican Committee of Greene county, announces seven Republican meetings for September.

DR. M. THOMPSON is the Republican candidate for State Senator in Carbon county. It is thought that he can "lick" both the opposition candidates.

THE Republican County Convention, of Montgomery county, will meet at Norristown on the 16th inst., to nominate candidates for the Assembly and for county offices.

A LARGE and spirited meeting of Republicans was held at the Court House in Uniontown on the 6th inst. The speakers were G. W. K. Minor, J. B. Miller, Ulysses Hertig and Wm. Parshall, Esqs.

ON Thursday evening a meeting was held at the court-house in Kittanning, and, in spite of disagreeable weather, it was numerous and enthusiastic. Hons. Darwin Phelps, T. J. Bingham and D. Barclay were the speakers.

Judge Packer was a prominent member of the celebrated surrender and white-feathered convention which met at Chicago in 1864, and no doubt assisted in framing the platform which pronounced the war a failure and demanded the cessation of hostilities.

THE Republican Senatorial Conferees of Bedford, Fulton and Somerset counties met on the 26th of August, in Bedford, and after forty-five ballots, late on the night of the 28th they nominated Hon. Alexander Stultzman, of Somerset, who has already served in the State Senate for four years.

ON the 4th inst. Governor Geary, Senator John Scott, Judge Kelley and Hon. Galusha A. Grow addressed a particularly attentive crowd of from four to five thousand persons in the public square at Troy, in Bradford county. The meeting was one of the finest ever brought together in the Northern part of the State, as indeed was to be expected considering the fame of the speakers.

CARBON COUNTY, during the war, appropriated an abundance of money to enable such West Pointers as the son of Asa Packer, to keep entirely clear of the draft. When the county needed funds, old Asa Packer picked up his carpet bag and made tracks for Philadelphia, where he had himself assessed as a resident, and thus got clear of paying his share of the debt. That was smart—wasn't it?

At White Haven, on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, when the news of Asa's Packer's nomination for Governor was received, in a few hours afterward large placards were hung out at the drinking places, announcing "Packer Whisky Free!" Whether Mr. Packer is still furnishing "whisky free" to his friends we do not know, but we are assured he is fully aware of its efficacy as an electioneering agent.

THE officers' platform at the Democratic nominating convention of Montgomery county, broke down, and a delegate had his leg broken. A new platform was immediately built, with whisky barrels for its foundation, and after that, things went on naturally. The nomination to the State Senate after being declined by several persons was accepted by his friends for Hon. Owen Jones, who is at present in Europe.

The Methodist congregation at Weatherly, Carbon county, desired to build a church a short time ago. They called on the Hon. Asa Packer with a view of obtaining sufficient land from him, either by purchase or gift, to erect said house of worship. Although Mr. Packer owned from two to three hundred acres of land in one body adjoining the town, he refused to sell or give them any ground in a suitable place for the purpose. Such is Packer's liberality!

IT is reported that Asa Packer does not hope to be elected. His principal desire to be Governor of Pennsylvania arose from a determination to effect if possible certain railroad advantages for New York. This has become so generally known and felt among leaders of his own party opposed to the project to injure their own State, that efforts to secure his defeat will not be wanting even among those who aided to place him in nomination. Packer knows this and expects to be defeated.

THE Crawford Democrat of last week published a call, addressed to the "Freeman, Industrial and Producing Classes of Crawford County," and asking them to meet in Convention in Meadville on the 15th of September, for the purpose of forming a new party and nominating candidates. The document accuses both the existing parties of corruption, and says it must ever be thus with parties formed for certain purposes. By this it would seem that the new party must also be corrupt or else without a certain purpose.

IT is generally known that during the height of the great struggle against the Southern rebellion, when every good citizen was doing his utmost to help preserve the Union of our fathers, Asa Packer was enjoying a pleasure trip in Europe. Even when absent, he did not have a good word to say for his own country. We are informed by a resident of the Lehigh Valley, who knows Mr. Packer well, that when he visited London, he refused to call upon Charles Francis Adams, the American Minister, but that upon his arrival in Paris he immediately sought out and paid his respects to John C. Breckinridge, who was an accredited rebel agent. This incident shows where Asa Packer's heart was during the war. Before it began he was an extreme partizan of the Breckinridge or secession wing of the Democratic party, and he has been true to its doctrines ever since. He is not, therefore, a fit man to be Governor of the loyal and patriotic State of Pennsylvania.—Bucks County Intel.

The Democratic platform declares in favor of limited hours of labor. In the Democratic States, except New Jersey, there are no laws fixing the hours of a legal day's work, while the Republican States generally have laws fixing ten hours as a legal day's work. A Republican Congress passed the law fixing eight hours as a legal day's work in Government workshops. For myself I claim no credit for this law, for I was opposed to it, believing that laborers in Government shops should work as many hours as laborers in other kinds of employment. This platform declares in favor of free homesteads to actual settlers. This is refreshing, in view of the fact that when a Republican Congress passed a Homestead law, the last Democratic President, Buchanan, vetoed it; and it was only when we had a Republican President and Congress that such a law was passed and went into operation. Now the Democrats meet in Convention and solemnly declare that they are in favor of free homesteads. They declare that they are opposed to grants of public lands to railroads, yet the first bill passed Congress for such a purpose was intaoduced by Mr. Douglas, a Democratic leader, and gave millions of acres to the Illinois Central Railroad Company.

THE REMAINS of an unknown man found near Ellicott City, Md., were identified as the body of Hon. E. R. Olcott, Judge of Hustings Court, Richmond, Va. He left White Sulphur Springs some time since to visit his wife at Chicago, and the last known of him he was in Baltimore in a deranged state of mind.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, lock up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 34 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. mv13:151-d&F

Fired at Him.—Frank Graser alleges that while passing the house of Joseph Hack, on Troy Hill, Friday morning, he was hailed by Hack, and not replying, was fired upon, the ball fortunately missing its mark. Alderman Eggers, at Graser's instance, arrested Hack, and, after a hearing, required him to give bail for trial.

Held for Trial.—Saturday afternoon, Charles Mullin, the principal in the shooting affray which occurred on Second avenue a few evenings since, had a hearing before Alderman Thomas on a charge of felonious assault and battery, James Lewis, the injured man, being prosecutor. Boy Drowned—A boy whose name we failed to learn, was drowned Saturday evening in the Allegheny river near the Sharpsburg bridge. He was attempting to ride a horse into the river when the animal took fright and threw him off into the water. The body had not been recovered at last account, and probably never will be, as the water is very high, and the current exceedingly swift at that point.

The Verdict.—Alderman Donaldson Saturday morning held an inquest on the body of Daniel McCrany, who fell from a stock train on the Pennsylvania railroad, and died from the effects of his injuries Friday afternoon. Among the witnesses examined was Dr. John Hamilton, who testified that death resulted from the bursting of a blood vessel in the head. The jury returned a verdict accordingly.

Pittsburgher Robbed,—Christian Lepper, a resident of this city, while on his way home from Cincinnati, had his pocket picked at Crestline. While on the platform of the car trying to get in, he was met by a fellow coming out of the door, and there were two others crowding him from behind; between the three he was relieved of his pocketbook, containing a draft from Evans & Co., on New York, for $100, $20 in cash, and a ticket to Pittsburgh.

Serious Fall.—Mrs. Evans, wife of William Evans, residing at the "Point," met with a serious accident, Saturday morning. She was at the Diamond Market and while passing along the sidewalk with a basket of marketing on her arm, stepped upon a melon rind, which caused her to slip and fall, striking her head on the sidewalk with such force as to render her insensible. She was placed in a carriage and conveyed to her residence and a physician summoned. The injury may prove fatal.

How It Went.

How one hundred dollars may be spent quickly, was illustrated in a festive way by the "day's doings" of a too bibulous Alleghenian, who commenced operations Thursday morning. The holder of the cash with his mutual friend succeeded before sunset in disposing of thirty five dollars of the amount. The remainder was then placed in the hands of the "friend" for security, but the security was rather insecure, and when called upon could only account for thirty dollars. Incensed at this betrayal, the man of cash excitedly talked of law, going so far as to visit an Alderman's in the matter. Before proceeding with legal entanglements, however, his wrath was cooled, and acting upon Aldermanic advice, he started away to purchase a suit of clothing, of which he stood in great need. This design, alas! was also frustrated, for before he had accomplished it the "friend" again crossed his path. A reconciliation ensued, and the last of the funds disappeared in commemoration of the renewal of friendship's tie.

Killed on the Railroad.

Yesterday morning between 10 and 11 o'clock, Alexander Lawson, aged 67 years, formerly residing at No. 77, Washington street, this city, was killed instantly on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad, near Wood,s Run. He was on his way to visit his son-in-law, Mr. W. F. Richardson, who resides in McCure township, near where the accident occurred. He was walking on the railroad track with a number of other persons, when an extra train on the road mentioned, was backing down and in turning a short curve, the engineer seeing persons on the track, blew the whistle and rung the bell, when every person left the track but Mr. Lawson, who, it appears, was deaf and having his back towards the approaching train, knew nothing of the danger he was in. A young man at the side of the track caught him by the coat sleeve and spoke to him, but failed to draw his attention to the impending danger. The engineer, W. H. Johnson, seeing that the man was not going to leave the track, reversed his engine and threw open the throttle valve, but notwithstanding the engine was only moving at the rate of about four miles an hour, he was so near that it was impossible to stop the train before the engine, No. 11, which was running backward, had struck the unfortunate man, knocking him down, and dragged or shoved him about one hundred feet.

Alderman McMasters, in the absence of the Coroner, held an inquest on the body last evening, when it was ascertained by a post mortem examination that the ribs of the deceased had been dislocated from the spine and the fractured ends had penetrated the breast, causing instant death. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

Church Dedication.

Yesterday the new Bellefield Presbyterian Church, Fourteenth ward, was dedicated with appropriate exercises. It will be remembered that the former structure occupying this site was burned down, one Sunday afternoon in December last, just as the children of the Sabbath School were gathering. While the flames were consuming the edifice the bell of the public school house a short distance off summoned the members of the congregation there, when it was resolved to proceed with the erection of a new structure without delay, and the next morning the preliminary work of clearing away the rubbish was begun. The building burned down had been occupied only a few months and cost $12,000. Work on the second one was pushed forward with the greatest rapidity, and, as a result, a handsome new edifice, similar in design but somewhat larger than the one destroyed, has been erected. The present building is of frame, one story in hight, but is so admirably planned that accommodations are afforded for the Sunday school and congregation in separate apartments, the Sunday school room being located in the rear, and consisting of a large apartment, octagonal in shape, and specially fitted up with all the latest improvements. The interior of the building throughout is a model of neatness and taste. The woodwork of the pews, pulpit, windows, &c., is all handsomely grained in light colors, in contrast with the stained glass in the windows. Not the least attractive feature of the interior is the woodwork of the ceiling, which is groined in arches and gives the auditorium an exceedingly elegant appearance. The structure was completed and furnished at a cost of about $20,000, and stands as a credit to the great energy and enterprise of the congregation.

Yesterday the exercises consisted of a sermon by Rev. Wm. M. Paxton in the morning, Sunday School meeting in the afternoon, at which addresses were delivered, and a discourse from Dr. Eells at night. The occasion was one of great interest to the members of the congregation and friends who gathered in large numbers at each service.

ANOTHER HOMICIDE.

Fatal Shooting Affray in the Fourteenth Ward—A Lady in the Case—Coroner's Inquest—The Verdict.

A shooting affray occurred at Arthur's Station, on the Pittsburgh and Connellsville railroad, at a boarding house, in the Fourteenth ward, kept by Joseph Gant, Saturday evening, between seven and eight o'clock, resulting in the death of James Shovlin, one of the boarders. It appears from the statement of the man who did the shooting, John Grimm, that he and Shovlin have for some time past been paying addresses to a young lady and that the lady had shown a decided preference for Grimm, on account of which Shovlin threatened to whip Grimm the first opportunity. Grimm hearing of this procured a revolver and repaired to Shovlin's boarding house, where a fight ensued between the parties, Shovlin seizing Grimm by the throat, and being the stronger man of the two was choking him, when the latter drew his revolver and fired two shots, one of which entered the abdomen of Shovlin, from the effects of which he died about twelve hours afterward. After shooting his antagonist, Grimm left the house and went home, and from thence came to the lock-up and gave himself up stating what he had done. Yesterday morning on being informed that Shovlin was dead, Chief Hague made information before the Mayor, charging Grimm with murder.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

In the absence of Coroner Clawson, Alderman Donaldson held an inquest on the body of the deceased yesterday morning, when the following testimony was adduced:

Joseph Gant, sworn.—Am proprietor of the boarding house in the Fourteenth ward where the affray occurred. The first I knew of the difficulty between Grimm and Shovlin was Friday night last. Some of Jack's children told my children that Grimm and Shovlin were going to fight about a dog. Saturday Grimm told me that some of my boarders had been talking about him and he wanted to come to my house and settle the matter. I told him I would not allow him to raise a fuss at my house. He said he would not raise any fuss. He came up between seven and eight o'clock Saturday, and staid in the room about ten or fifteen minutes and then went to the kitchen. He had not been out of the room more than five or ten minutes before I heard two reports of a pistol. The shooting took place in the kitchen. I went in and found Shovlin standing up and he had hold of Grimm by the neck. I caught hold of and separated them, and told them they must not fight in my house. Shovlin said "I have got it." He stood up four or five minutes and then sat down. He afterwards got up, went out and laid down on a plank, where he remained half an hour and then came in. No one was present during the shooting but my wife and three daughters.

Mrs. Jane Gant, sworn.—Grim came to our house about dinner time Saturday, and asked for Shovlin and then went away. Saturday night Shovlin was in the kitchen, when Grimm came in and told him he heard he was going to lick him. Shovlin replied, "yes, now or any other time." They clinched, Shovlin taking Grimm by the throat; in a moment afterward the pistol was fired twice. One of the balls entered the floor about six feet from where they were standing. After the shooting, Grimm left the kitchen and went out of the back door.

Barbara Gant, sworn—When Grimm came in the kitchen Saturday night Shovlin said "I heard you were up here at dinner time looking for me," Grimm replied "I am no fighting man, and do not want to fight you," Shovlin then called Grimm a liar and Grimm called Shovlin another; Shovlin then caught Grimm by the throat; Shovlin was standing near the table when he caught Grimm. He was choking Grimm when the shot was fired. After the shooting Shovlin said "I can fight him yet."

Dr. W. H. Daly, sworn—Was sent for to attend James Shovlin Saturday evening; was informed he had been shot; arrived at the house about eight o'clock; found Shovlin lying on the floor in the sitting room; he talked with me freely; I examined his person and found a wound from a pistol ball in his abdomen near the umbilicus; on turning him over I detected the ball lodged between two of the laterae processes of the spine; extracted the ball, found it to be a cartridge ball from a pistol; dressed the wound and left directions as to how he should be cared for. Was informed this morning that he had died about half past nine. Made a post mortem examination about five hours after death. On cutting into the abdomen found the cavity filled with blood, and found that the ball had perforated the intestines and also the ascending vena cava which is the largest vein in the body. The doctor gave a detailed description of the wound and its consequences, and concluded by stating that it was the cause of the death of deceased.

The jury after hearing the evidence returned the following verdict:

"That James Shovlin came to his death from the effects of a leaden ball fired from a pistol, and that the pistol was fired while in the hands of John Grimm."

Grimm is in the lock-up and will probably have a hearing this morning. He is a young man of industrious habits, and so far as we have been able to learn, has always borne a good character.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The Worrell sisters, who have been drawing large audiences at the Opera House, will remain for another week. To-night the Opera bouffe of the "Grand Duchess" will be presented, with all the original music. This is said to be the stronghold of the sisters, and full houses may be anticipated.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—The entertainments at the "Old Drury" since the opening have been of an excellent character, and full houses as a legitimate consequence followed. As an evidence of Mr. Williams' intention to provide the public with first class entertainments, we need only state that this evening Mr. James Taylor, the inimitable comique who created such a furore last season, Miss Emma Grattan, the pet of the famous Lydia Thompson troupe, and Mille Alexandre will appear and remain for the week, during which they will appear at the Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

MASONIC HALL.—The Davenport Brothers, whose mysterious and startling entertainments have been the wonder of the crowned heads of the old world and the philosophers of the age, will appear at Masonic Hall Tuesday evening.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The celebrated Gregory troupe, whose entertainments at the Old Theatre last season were so highly appreciated by hundreds of our citizens, will commence a series of entertainments at the Academy of Music on Monday evening, the 20th inst.

The Corner Stone of the Humboldt Monument.

At the preparatory meeting of the Masonic fraternity held on Saturday evening, the liveliest interest was manifested, and from all appearances the participation in the procession will be far larger than originally counted upon. The present will be the first proceeding of the kind in which the full ritual of the ancient, beautiful and interesting ceremonies of the Order will be performed, since the laying of the corner stone for the Masonic Hall, on Fifth svenue, twenty years ago. The dress to be worn by the brethren will be a black suit, white gloves, the aprons of the respective lodges, and, if possible, black silk hat, or, at least, felt hat of black color. The Masons have resolved to attend the great Volksfest in a body, and sufficient sections of the great special train on the Central Railroad will be assigned to them by Messrs. Pitcairn and Creighton. Jas. Findley, Esq., will act as Marshal of Lodge No. 45, which will perform the work, and Capt. Chas. W. Batchelor has been appointed by D. D. G. M. Pittock Marshal of the Masonic portion of the procession. Badges, 25 cents each, securing transportation to and from the Grove and admission to the grounds, will be for sale at Meyran & Siedle's, Mellor & Hoene's, Ph. R. Mertz's and J. W. Pittock's and at Turner Hall during Monday evening and Tuesday morning.

The preparations at the Park are of an extensive nature. A platform representing a Masonic lodge is being erected under the direction of Chas. Meyran, Esq., chairman of the Monument Committee, properly furnished with the necessary furniture and other appointments. The Ladies' Tribune is also being enlarged so as to accommodate fully seven hundred persons. The Executive Committee is desirous that every journal published on Tuesday morning will make mention of the celebration in connection with the Humboldt Festival, for the purpose of enclosing a copy in the corner stone, on that day.

In addition to the Freemasons, all the societies of Odd Fellows and Redmen will participate in the procession—and be welcomed at the festival ground.

Nicolson and Concrete Pavements.

The Cincinnati fathers are considering the propriety of trying new kinds of pavements on the streets of that city, projects for improvement having been broached contemplating an outlay from the treasury of over a quarter of a million of dollars, of which amount about ninety thousand dollars it is intended shall come back to the treasury in assessments. Considerable discussion has arisen as to the merits of the different kinds of pavements, Nicolson and concrete being proposed. It was contended that the Nicolson had not been fairly tried, it being necessary to warrant proper judgment of the durability of that kind of pavement that only thoroughly seasoned and thoroughly tarred pine be well put down. It was stated that in New York a boulder weighing eighteen tons had been hauled over the Fisk concrete pavement without making an impression upon it. The cost of this pavement, as stated authoritatively, is $3,50 per square yard if laid on the boulders, and $4 if the boulders are removed; depth 3½ inches. It is likely the Cincinnatti Council will direct an experiment with the concrete before paving extensively with it. A contractor said he would agree, giving bond and security, to pave ten squares with the Fisk contrete and guarantee that it will last ten years.

The Committee having in charge the preparations for the Humboldt celebration on the Allegheny commons on Tuesday, have been treated with remarkable courtesy by the gentlemen with whom they have been brought in contact. Especially has this been the case as regards Mr. J. C. Patterson of the Park Commission, Major E. S. Wright, Warden of the Western Penitentiary, and Mr. Chas. Davis the Allegheny City Engineer. These gentlemen have done every thing in their power to assist the Committee in making the arrangements for Tuesday thoroughly complete.

The Humboldt Centennial Executive Committee

Met on Saturday night and transacted most of the business that remained to be done. The Committee on Speakers reported that Mr. Wm. D. Moore would deliver the oration in English on the 14th. The sub-Committee reported that the special train would not start until one o'clock, in order to give ample time for the orations to be delivered on the Allegheny Commons. Mr. P. R. Mertz, the Treasurer of the Association, agreed to undertake the management of the picnic finances, an undertaking which will be sure to give him plenty of annoyance and trouble, for the money matters of so large a gathering are as complicated as the most ardent fiscal enthusiast would desire. The Marshals of the various divisions have chosen their staffs, four bands have been engaged instead of only three, as at first proposed for the procession, and these, with such bands as any of the Societies may engage to accompany them, will make music sufficient. Major Swearingen, of the Committee on Procession, bas furnished us with the following facts concerning the parade and its formation:

FORMATION.

First Division—John Seiferth, Marshal, forms on Grant street, right resting on Sixth avenue.

Second Division—John Nusser, Marshal, forms at the Market House, Birmingham, and marches to Second avenue, Pittsburgh, right resting on Grant street.

Third Division—A. W. Kredel, Marshal, forms on Liberty street, right resting on Chestnut street, Allegheny, to march to Third avenue, Pittsburgh, right resting on Grant street.

Route—Procession to move at 8½, A. M.—down Grant street to Seventh avenue, down Seventh avenue to Smithfield, along Smithfield to Fifth avenue, down Fifth avenue to Market, along Market and Sixth, (St. Clair), and across Suspension bridge, up Federal street to North avenue, along North avenue to Monument. After the ceremonies the procession will re-form and move out of the Park to Ohio avenue, along Ohio avenue to Cedar avenue, and by Anderson street, across the bridge to Hand street, up Hand street to Liberty street, where the Procession will embark on cars for Friendship Grove, near Millvale Station on the Pennsylvania Central railroad.

Citizens residing or doing business on the line of the route are respectfully requested to display flags and decorate their houses.

On motion of Major Swearingen the Executive Committee decided to march in a body on foot in the procession.

A handsome tribune for the accommodation of about seven hundred ladies has been erected within sight and hearing of the corner stone ceremonies.

A vote of thanks was passed to Messrs. Boyd & Sons, McCrum & Glyde, Jos. Horne, Chas. Davis, of Allegheny, City Engineer, and Allegheny Park Commissioners, for their courtesy generally, and attention. The state of the finances is better, and to-day a final effort is to be made to obtain subscriptions for the whole amount necessary. It is proposed to take a photograph of the scene on the Allegheny Commons, immediately before the beginning of the ceremonies. In order to obtain the greatest attainable distinctness, a rifle will be fired from the penitentiary wall, after which it is hoped that every body present will remain as still as possible for a moment, after which the ceremonies will proceed.

Grand Public Sale of City View Lots and Building Sites, Suburbs of Allegheny City.

On Wednesday, September 15th, at three o'clock, will be sold on the premises, three lots of five acres each, three lots of one and two acres each, and twenty various sized building lots, at City View, near Woodville, in Reserve township, one mile from Allegheny Diamond, by the Sawmill Valley Plank-road, known as the lower road to Perrysville. Directions, plans, terms and full particulars given at the auctioneer's office. It will be necessary to visit these grounds before an adequate conception of the eligibility of these lots can be obtained. They command very fine views of both cities and their surrounding eminences. Several are covered with fruit. The avenues are wide and of easy grade. Persons in quest of desirable lots, at low prices, cannot do better than give this sale attention. Now is the time to buy, when times are dull. Higher prices will prevail when things liven up. This property has been laid out by Mr. Jonathan Gallagher, which is sufficient guarantee that the utmost liberality will prevail. These lots embrace city and country privileges, ten years' growth of fruit, and being just outside the city limits are much more lightly taxed.

The Weed Sewing Machine.

The Weed Sewing Machine gains every day in popularity. This is not surprising, for it combines all the excellencies that have been devised for the sewing machine since its first introduction, and has none of the defects which have attached to it in most instances. Messrs. R. H. Long & Co., the enterprising agents, 116 Market street, have a large and handsome assortment of machines on hand, at their store just now, and offer them at the lowest possible terms. Their rooms are convenient, and they will esteem it a pleasure to receive visitors there and show them the Weed in operation. Housekeepers, or others, who contemplate buying a machine, should examine the Weed before purchasing. It is certain to give them full satisfaction.
